THE NEW "RHODES TRUST.

LONDON, April 29.

Licut.-Col. Sir W. M. Grigg, M.P., Secretary of the Rhodes trustees, in an interview with the Observer, hails the Davison scholarship fund as a most important step forward in the path marked by-Cecil Rhodes. The will particularises the excellent American results obtained by the Rhodes scholarship system, especially in the professorial sphere, and hopes the Davison scholarship scheme, which only applies to the magnificent Eastern American universities, will be taken up by other Americans who will encourage better touch between British ideas and those of the Middle and Far West.

[This new "Rhodes Trust" has been founded by Mrs. H. P. Davison in memory of her husband who was an ex-partner of the J. P. Morgan Company. Under the new trust three Oxford and three Cambridge students will be enabled to spend a year at either the University of Harvard, the University of Yale or the University of Princeton. All expenses will be paid.]

KENYA CRISIS BECOMES ACUTE.

DEPUTATIONS REACH LONDON.

LONDON, April 18.

The centre of interest in the Kenya question in which British settlers are bitterly opposing the demand of the Indians for unrestricted admission and the conferment of equal rights of citizenship, has shifted to London. The Governor, Sir Robert Convidon, also white and Indian deputations headed by the Earl of Delamere and Mr. Sastri, respectively, have arrived for a conference with the Colonial Office in an effort to reach agreement.

Mr. Sastri, interviewed by Reuter, said it was unthinkable that the Indian intelligentsia would ever consent to emigration restrictions for Crown colonies as for the Dominions. He insisted that the proposed franchise conditions would only permit the qualification of educated Indians who were insufficient in numbers to outnumber the British. He protested against the measures whereby the highlands of Kenya should be exclusively allocated to the white settlers which was among the principal bones of contention:

[The Rt. Hon. Mr. V. S. Sastri, P. C., is President of the Servants of India Society. The Earl of Delamere, a pioneer colonist in Kenya, owns a large cetato near Nairobi:

Bathing Facilities

The announcement to-day by the Director of Public Works of the bathing facilities that are being provided this summer comes as welcome, confirmation of the assurance given by the Hon. Mr. Severn in the course of his Budget speech as acting Governor that this important question should not be overlooked. The beaches at North Point, next to the Yacht Club, and at Kennedy Town, which proved last year, are being opened to-morrow, the new time and ferries will be ready to take bathers across to Stonecutter's marines on the China Station. by the middle of the month. Stonecutter's didnot last year, despite the generous facilities offered, attractthe numbers it deserved and this year with the rival attractions the new beach at Hunghom and the ex-active serviceman's private strip of foreshore over on the island itself, it is doubtful whether any big increase can be expected. One problem seriously affecting bathers a rapidly increasing, one-which the Government ought at once to take in hand before gets worse is the pollution further period. the harbour by oil steamers. Any swimmer who found himself in the middle of the great patches of slime that were floating on the surface of the water yesterday would swear off bathing for the rest of the season—it would take him till then to get clean, anyway.

OSCILLATING MOON.

NEW NAUTICAL TABLES.

Having been based on the tables compiled by Professor Hansen, a German, for more than 50 years. the information dealing with the motion of the moon, in the Nautical Almanack, is evolved this year, for the first time; from the recently published tables compiled by Professor Ernest Brown, an English-

Professor Brown, who holds the chair of Mathematics at Yale University, spent 30 years in compiling his tables, which comprise millions of figures. According to the new tables, the moon is 30 miles an hour nearer than it was according to the old," said Dr. A. C. D. Crommelin, of Greenwich Observatory, "It is not in actuality, as the moon is very slowly going farther from the earth, but the new tables are more_accurate. Professor-Brown has also found out many new 'waves' in the speed and the direction of the moon. Some of the oscillations cannot be due to the gravitational attraction of known bodies. The oscillations are extremely interesting, and astronomers never know what may be discovered."

OBITUARY.

THE VERY REV. FATHER P. DE MARLA.

Bishop Pozzoni has received by cable the sad news of the death of his Vicar Delegate, the Very Rev. Father P. de Maria, who left here for Italy on February 27 in the hope of recovering his health. The message, which was sent from Milan on April 28, states that Father de Maria passed away ten days after reaching home. Father de Maria who was born in Piedmont in 1866, arrived here in 1888 and, with the ling a battalion of British infantry exception of a brief sojourn in Hoifung, he had spent his life in Hongkong. He always showed a keen interest in education and was a member of the local Board of LATEST Education. As correspondent for the Catholic Schools, he played a leading part in bringing them to their present state of efficiency. As Parish Priest of St. Francis' Church in Wanchai, he won a host-of friends, who will be deeply grieved to hear of his death.

NAPOLEON'S EXILE.

VALET'S ST. HELENA

A vivid and foliching account o Napoleon in his later yours is given by his second valet Louis Etienne St. Denis, whose personal recollections have just been published under the title of "Napoleon from the 'Tuileries to St. Helena" Charper 12s. 6d.) with an introduction by Professor G. Michant who is married to St. Denis's greatgrand-daughter. The translation! and notes are by F. H. Potter: !

These memoirs are of far greater trassworthiness than Constant's famous but very dubious volumes They were seen and examined by that great Napoleonic authority M Frederic Masson ten years or more ago, and pronounced gennine. CLEVÉR SURGERY.

Written without pedantic technicalities and with its accuracy may vouched for by that high authority on anthropology, Professor Elliot Smith, Mr. Donald A. Mackenzie's "Ancient Man in Britain" (Blackie, 12s. 6d.) gives a most interesting account of our more remote an-

The famous Forest of Fontainebleau, near Paris, where ancient French monarchs held their trysts, now contains a beautiful temple of a new school of the occult, headed by a Greek mystic, and made up of a band of disciples of me 1 and women which includes many of those famous in the old Russian court and others from society life in England. Striving to live a secluded and simple life, they hope to attain "soul emancipation." Only those visitors who wish to join the cult are permitted to enter. They are received at a beautiful villa, and if they convince the committee they are desirable they are enrolled as members. Within the wood is a gorgeous temple for study and meditation, a unique amphitheatre, with rare carpets and rugs and pillows that will rival any other collection in the world.

Mrs. Sylvia Gough, daughter of the prominent South African financier, George Cawston, is being sued in London for divorce by Mr. Willred Hugh J. Gough, son of General S. J. Gough, of Afghan war fame. Mr. Gough has mentioned three men, among them a Baro 1, as co-respondents. Mrs. Gough, a London beauty, was formerly prominent on the stage and screen.
